DIRECTOR'S NOTES - DOUG KING

Chitty Chitty Bang Bang was originally a children's book written by Ian Fleming in 1964 and made into a British-American movie in 1968. It is a fantasy adventure story following the Potts family. This musical stage version has all the charm and adventure of the '68 movie. If you were captivated by the movie and charmed by Dick Van Dyke's dancing, you will feel the same about this show. In fact, if you were scared to death of the Childcatcher (as I was), you will feel the same during this performance! Chitty... is a show centered around child-like adventure and imagination. In this great adventure, it is the Potts children's childlike innocence and beliefs that saves them and completes their adventure!

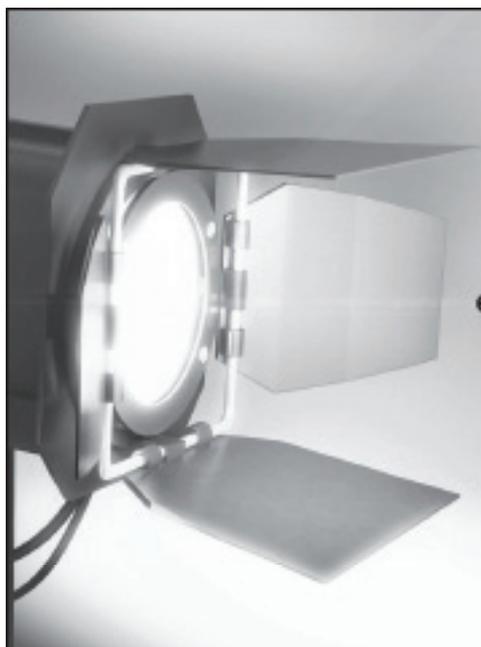

This show has been quite an adventure for myself as well. Taking on the staging of a classic movie with all kinds of special effects and technical needs has proven to be an adventure of its own! As always, the technical staff at Fort Wayne Civic has been wonderful to work with, and we are all excited to work with the pieces of machinery and technology required to do this show ... pieces that move, turn, crank, open, lift and even fly.

Now I challenge you to think back to your childhood, when a boulder could be a kingdom and a box could be a spaceship! Imagine and step into our world of adventure with childlike awe and wonder, our adventure of Chitty Chitty Bang Bang!

IN THE WINGS ARTS-IN-EDUCATION

Acting for the stage is an all-encompassing process that involves a great deal of collaboration from many different people. The art, process and effects of live performance are incredibly important in the current world of social media, digital technology and screens. Being fully present with a group of tangible, living, breathing people is important to the art of acting and for the human spirit.

Eunice Wadewitz
Music/Education
Director

1) Theatre helps us to see a different perspective from our own. We're shown humanity, psychology, motivations, conflict and resolution. Theatre encourages us to give power to truth, to take risks, and to advocate for new and diverse voices.

2) Theatre reminds us that we are not alone. Not only are we sharing space and an experience with the artists who are performing, we are sharing the experience with fellow audience members. Movies and television don't have the same intimacy or sense of participation. Sharing an experience with live actors and live audience members is not only valuable, it's necessary for human connection.

3) Theatre is immediate, evolving and always different. Although the script may be the same every night, the performance is unique, each and every time it happens. No two performances are ever the same. In this way, everyone involved has a distinct and unique experience that can never be replicated.

4) Live theatre helps to promote social discourse, dialogue, and potential social change. Theatre is a cultural phenomenon that demands that society examines itself in the mirror. We can study societal problems and attempt to find solutions. Coming together as a community to listen to opposing points of view is necessary.

5) Theatre promotes education and literacy. Studies have shown that students who participate in theatre do better in school.
